Chelsea Flower Show 2026

Paul is delighted to be exhibiting his work at The Chelsea Flower Show for his 15th year.

His work is individually hand-carved in our West London studio. The collection presented here brings together heads, torsos, and figures, each carved from the most beautiful materials across the world, most notably marble and onyx.

Paul's work is rooted in the strength of stone, revealing its natural depth through balanced, timeless compositions. Every piece is unique, shaped not only by intention but also by the inherent qualities of the material itself, its veining, density, translucency, and fracture guiding the evolution of each form.

It is an honour to be exhibiting on the Main Avenue, surrounded by some of the most beautiful show gardens, trees, and sculptures.

Set within such a remarkable environment, the work sits in dialogue with its surroundings and in the company of exceptional landscape and design.

These sculptures are all suitable for indoor and outdoor installations.

A close-up photograph of a textured surface, possibly a book cover or a piece of fabric. The surface is divided into several distinct sections. At the top, there is a dark, heavily textured area with a complex, interlocking pattern. Below this is a smooth, light-colored curved band. The main body of the image shows a light-colored surface with embossed text. The word "PAUL" is embossed on the left, and "VANSTONE" is embossed on the right, both in a clean, sans-serif font. At the bottom right, there is another textured area with a pattern of vertical ridges and small, pointed protrusions.
